Re: BellaContour device DU 857.

Dear Mr. Feferberg,

We have been using your Bella Contour Device (DU857) for over two and a half years in my plastic surgery practice in Sao Paulo, Brazil. I believe we were one of the first people to use this machine and as a result we were unsure of its capabilities. We have used the machine for various areas of the body, in conjunction with other devices and for post surgical repair.

During this time we have not had any problems with the machine – it just works. It took some time to truly understand the potential of this tool for the solution of cosmetic cellulite and circumference reduction required by our patients. As you know Brazil is a very big market for cosmetic surgery and therefore the client base is very demanding and educated about various procedures. So far, all of our patient's have been very satisfied their results. Once word started to spread about the device's performance we have been conducting anywhere from 7-12 treatment sessions per day for about 6 days per week.

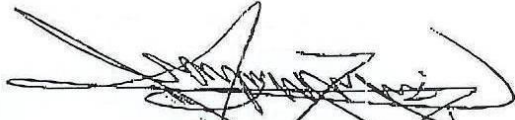

The documentation procedures you require have been very important in managing patient's expectations. The scientific approach is unlike any other device we have used and as a result my staff has discovered many applications for this devcie of which we were not aware in the beginning.

The device is an excellent option for patients adverse to surgical procedures. Although every patient is different we can safely report an 85%-90% success rate on our patients. Relative to the other devices, this performance is notable. We have even discovered the device is very effective on the abdominal area of certain males.

We look forward to any further development or other devices that you can offer to us.

Please do not hesitate to let us know if you require a more detailed analysis of our practice.

Very truly yours,
